OUR LONDON LETTER

ENGLAND THE LAND OF SUMMER HOLIDAYS.

OVERSEAS INVASION OF LONDON.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

INVASION OF LONDON.

There is no mistaking the fact that every year this country is becoming more and more the holiday Mecca of people from all parts of the world. This is especially true as regards the United States and South America. But there is also a big influx from the Continent of Europe, though the numbers are not so impressive—a circumstance due to the war and lean purses that are the inevitable consequence of the devastating struggle.

Last week-end what may be regarded as the beginning of the Summer invasion was witnessed when the world's two greatest liners arrived at Southampton from New York—the Majestic carrying 1,301 passengers, and the Lesotho with 1,374 passengers. On the same day nine other big liners berthed at Southampton with passengers from many lands, including the Argentine and South Africa, the number of passengers landed being over 6,000. It required 420 special trains to take them to London. Some of the new arrivals have brought their motor cars with them in order to tour this "tight little island" at their leisure.

NEW HONOUR FOR LORD OXFORD.

The announcement is made this week that the King has been pleased to approve that the Earl of Oxford and Asquith be appointed a Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter. Much public interest is taken in the official intimation, and there is a feeling that the honour is well deserved as a recognition of long public service in the State. Lord Oxford has already reached the stage when most of the fierce political party antagonisms that circled round him when he was in the area of the House of Commons have been stiller as far as he is concerned; and it is highly agreeable to most people to hear of the bestowal of the Garter.

Lord Oxford is the second ex-Premier to receive the highest order of Knighthood in recent years, the Garter having been conferred upon Lord Balfour in 1922 on his state-man's elevation to the peerage. Another ex-Premier, the Earl of Rosebery, was made a Knight of the Garter in 1902 in the year he assumed office as Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs (for the second time) on the formation of Mr. Gladstone's last Government. Another Foreign Secretary, Viscount Grey of Fallodon, received the Garter in 1913 when he was still Sir Edward Grey, and this was a most interesting appointment because he was the first commoner to be awarded the Garter since the historic instance of Sir Robert Walpole, on whom the coveted distinction was conferred in 1726.

THIRD GARTER KNIGHT THIS YEAR.

Lord Oxford is the third to be appointed this year to the Order of the Garter, the others being Viscount Fitz Alan, who succeeded to the vacancy caused by the death of Lord Curzon, and the Duke of Northumberland, who succeeded the late Duke of Rutland. The vacancy now filled was caused by Lord Milner's death. In all the long and historic records of the Orders of Chivalry there are none to compare with the Garter. It consists of the Sovereign and 25 Knights-Companions and such kindred descendants of George the First as may be elected. The Order was, as is well-known, instituted by King Edward the Third about August, 1348.

NOTABLE MILITARY WRITER.

Lieut.-Colonel C. Repington, the well-known military critic, has died as the result of a seizure at his home at Brighton. He had an unique position as a military critic, and for a long series of years was an acknowledged authority upon matters connected with the British Army. He knew the art and practice of war as few men of his generation, and enjoyed a European reputation as a writer in his particular field. It will be recollected that Col. Repington was fined £100 in the early part of 1913 for stating in an article in the Morning Post on the Versailles Council that Mr. Lloyd-George "has practically eliminated the General Staff in London from authority on the Western Front, and has deprived the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief of one of his most indispensable means of action."

This is sufficient indication of his independence as a journalist. Whatever he wrote commanded close attention, as it was generally recognized that he often had private information of what was going on behind the scenes, and was in fact in the confidence of people in power. He was of very aristocratic lineage; Lord Heytesbury, the diplomatist, was his ancestor. His grandfather was a Lieutenant-General, his father was M.P. for Wilton, and one of his aunts was the mother of the 13th and 14th Earls of Pembroke. In his young days Col. Repington served under Kitchener in Egypt, and he was with Buller in South Africa.

GREAT ROADS.

In a general way we think of the Romans as road-makers, the race that carved its way through the ancient world by means of the sword and through communications. But at the present date we in England may pride ourselves on the road-making that is being carried out on a scale hitherto undreamt of. There is for instance the Great West Road which was opened by the King a few days ago, a "short distance" of about eight miles, it is true, but a considerable step in modernising the western approach to London. The road is a loop starting from near Chiswick to Bedford on the Staines road; and its recommendation is that it enables motor traffic to avoid the notorious bottle-neck at Brentford, where everything on wheels, including trams, had to pass through a width of less than 30 feet.

The Brentford loop has the distinction of being the most costly stretch of road ever made, as it has run away with £1,150,000, or over £143,000 a mile. It has a foundation of one foot of solid hard core, then nine inches of reinforced concrete, and as a surface a thick layer of rock asphalt. Altogether some 14 new arterial roads have been completed or are in process of completion giving access to London. They are of varying lengths, that linking up Southend with London being over 30 miles long. The money is found by the taxation of motor cars, so that in a sense motorists are being forced to supply the new thoroughfares rendered necessary by the coming of motoring.

NEW MISTRESS OF GIRTON.

Those who are interested in the education of women everywhere will learn with pleasure that Miss E. H. Major, who for the past 15 years has been head mistress of King Edward's High School for Girls at Birmingham has just been appointed to succeed Miss E. S. Philpotts as mistress of Girtton College from October next. Miss Major is a past student of Girtton, who took honours in the Historical Tripos of 1888. She has had a distinguished career as head mistress of Putney High School before going to Birmingham in 1910. She has held a number of appointments on Associations and Committees of an educational character, and her interests are very wide. The future of Girtton is considered to be assured under her guidance as "head."

A QUESTION OF TASTE.

It seems curious to read that a protest has been sent to the Lord Chamberlain's Office on behalf of the stammerer, requesting the official censor of plays to protect those afflicted with speech impediment from "ridicule on the stage." I believe that everyone will agree that to mimic this particular form of disability is a very poor "form of humour," a wretched way of causing laughter. But after all it is surely a matter of taste, whereas the Lord Chamberlain in his character as Censor is concerned with morals.

From time to time the Lord Chamberlain is assailed on account of his ban on this or that theatrical production, or would-be production, on the ground that he is not a good judge and is prejudiced and narrow-minded. But what would happen if in addition to the present awkward problems he is called upon to solve he is also to be set on high as an arbiter of manners? "The Private Secretary" with his insane look, his goloshes, and his ration of milk and buns continues to tour the country without a word of protest from the Bishops of the Church of England; and it is not yet recorded that the War Office has tried to put a veto on the stage colonel. The Censor can scarcely be asked to save us from the talk-show curate or the Anglo-Indian officer with a liver. The remedy for showing physical infirmities on the stage would seem to lie not with the Lord Chamberlain but with the public and common sense.

COST OF LIVING.

The cost of living continues to crop up in some way or another every day, mention of the subject being made in speeches and in the papers till it has become as inevitable as King Charles's head and poor Mr. Dick. The reason is that it is a subject which touches everybody, personally and particularly. But I am sorry to say—despite the smug assurances we get from time to time in the shape of index figures issued by the Board of Trade that cost of living has dropped a point or two compared with a year ago—the amount required to pay the housekeeping bills is as big as ever, that is, in the post-war sense. Food is dear, and it appears likely to remain dear for an indefinite time to come.

There is a certain amount of comfort, though not much, in the assurance of the Prime Minister in a speech he made a few days ago that a Food Council is to be set up on the lines recommended by the Royal Commission on the cost of living. The Council will be charged with the business of "watching prices and supplies and advising the Government." To be candid nobody expects much good will come of a body of this character holding a watching brief for the public. The profiteers will only laugh—H.B.

COMPANY MEETING.

THE SHANGHAI ELECTRIC CONSTRUCTION CO., LTD.

The nineteenth annual general meeting of the Shanghai Electric Construction Co., Ltd., was held at Basildon House, Moorgate, London, E.C., on Wednesday, June 3rd, Mr. J. S. Haskell (chairman of the company) presiding.

The secretary (Mr. Albert J. Sibley) having read the notice convening the meeting and the report of the auditors, the chairman said:—

"The Report and Accounts have been in your hands some days, and I assume you will take them as read in accordance with the usual practice."

"The operating profit at £108,115 shows an increase of £7,341 as compared with 1923. It is unfortunately by no means commensurate with the increase of our traffic receipts which, reckoned at their gross value, rose from rather under four million dollars to four and a half million dollars. The increase in our gross receipts is, however, the result of a revision of the scale of fares, early in the year, which was designed to offset the growing depreciation of copper currency. Statistics show that the rise in the tariff had the effect of reducing the number of passengers but produced a substantial increase in our gross receipts, and an improvement of nearly £20,000 in our effective receipts which remained after deducting the loss on copper."

SUBSIDIARY COINAGE.

The depreciation of subsidiary coinage is our greatest difficulty. "It is now 56 per cent. as against 48 per cent. this time last year. There seems to be no way of combating it except by revising the tariff, which will have to be done periodically, unless the depreciation is checked. The revision of fares is, however, by no means an easy matter, because we must have regard to various practical considerations involved in any change so intimately connected with the source of Revenue. We found it necessary to apply to the Council a short time ago for a further revision of the tariff, which was effected in the main by reducing the number of sections corresponding with the then existing fares. So far as it is possible to form an opinion in the short time since the new tariff was introduced on April 20th, its effect upon our receipts is distinctly beneficial."

In the Appropriation Account we have increased the reserve for renewals to £20,000, and have also made a transfer from the general reserve, which brings the total of the renewal account up to nearly £47,000, after debiting approximately £20,000 for renewals during the year. It has been necessary to proceed with the renewal of the track more rapidly than was anticipated, and the cost of renewal has been augmented by the adoption of a somewhat more expensive but more satisfactory form of track foundation than was originally laid.

In consequence of the heavy expenditure in Shanghai, only a small amount of profit has been remitted home and the balance at credit of exchange account was only £1,570.

It is satisfactory that in a year when depreciation on subsidiary coinage has been very high, and we have had very little benefit from the premium on silver, we are able to maintain our dividend at the rate of 20 per cent. and to carry forward more than was brought in.

RAILLESS CONCESSION.

The adjustment under the Railless Concession, which has been debited to the reserve account, calls for a word of explanation. Many years ago, when railless traction was first started in Shanghai, certain routes were made available on condition that the Company paid half the cost of reconstructing the roads. The Railless Concession, which was signed last year, imposes no such obligation on the Company, but instead of contributing to the actual cost of the roads, the Company pays 2 cents per car-mile for the right to use them. In order to bring the old arrangement into line with the Concession, it was agreed that the contributions which amounted to £3,439, should be refunded, and that the 2 cents a mile should be applied retrospectively. This amounted to £21,458, and as it has nothing to do with the years working, we are charging it against the reserve account. The amount recovered in respect of contributions to the cost of the roads has been applied in relief of the capital expenditure during the year.

Reference is made in the report to a claim in respect of taxation for past years. A new inspector in the district in which the Company is assessed has taken the view that the Company's method of converting foreign currency has been ultra conservative, and that capital expenditure and profits have been understated. The question of foreign exchange in relation to accounts is a difficult one, and while we are far from admitting the justice of the assessments which has been made, and involve a liability of about £30,000, extending over the past eight years, negotiations for a settlement are in progress.

EXTENSIONS AND DEVELOPMENTS.

A matter which will interest shareholders more than any other is the progress of extensions and developments. The question of foreign exchange in relation to accounts is a difficult one, and while we are far from admitting the justice of the assessments which has been made, and involve a liability of about £30,000, extending over the past eight years, negotiations for a settlement are in progress.

CHUNGKING EVENTS.

BRITISH OFFICIAL'S PROTEST.

PEKING, June 22nd.

Mr. Palgrave, British Chargé d'Affaires Peking, sent a strongly-worded despatch to the Chinese Government last Friday protesting against the events at Chungking, Szechuan, and demanding a solemn apology from China for insulting the British flag of the British Consulate at Chungking which was torn down by the demonstrators. Under the protection of the guns of the British gunboats at the riverside of Chungking, all British subjects are safe but women and children have been sent away by order of the British Consul. In this connection, the Chinese wireless station received the following radio from England: "British conservative circles in London look with feelings of great satisfaction at the firm tone of the Note of the British Chargé d'Affaires in Peking regarding the events in Chungking, Szechuan. The demand of Mr. Palgrave of a solemn apology for the insult to the British flag at Chungking handed over to the Wai-chiao-pu on June 19th, must serve as a serious warning to the Chinese authorities who are considered in Downing Street as fully responsible for the present disturbances in China. The British Government will insist for an apology from the Chinese Government and other demands although it understands that in view of the present excitement in China, this will be difficult to achieve."—Asiatic News Service.

The layout of the Baikal-Road site is such as to provide room for housing more vehicles than we possess at present, and we are also increasing the carshed accommodation at Bubbling Well and Wayside, where facilities for the better handling of the cars are being provided, a step which is rendered possible by the concentration of manufacture and repair at the new Baikal Road workshops. At these workshops the preparation of bodies for the trams and trolley buses is in active progress, and it is intended that the trolley bus bodies for Singapore shall also be manufactured there, on terms which will give our Company a reasonable profit.

The issue of 100,000 new shares at 21 pence in June last was applied for by shareholders to whom alone it was offered, with the exception of 1,250 shares. These have since been placed at 21 pence, and the whole of the new issue will rank for all dividends accruing after the final dividend which you will be asked to declare at this meeting.

The issue was not intended to provide in full for the complete development of railless traction, as it was intended that the capital expenditure should be spread over three years. It has, however, been decided to accelerate the programme and the equipment of the whole of the routes authorised under the Railless Concession is being taken in hand. The process of renewing the tramway track is also being accelerated, and will call for additional funds, inasmuch as the annual provision for renewals was not specifically set aside and invested, but was far more profitably employed in development of the business. The money so spent will, therefore, have to be found now that the renewals are becoming due.

SINGAPORE UNDERTAKING.

We have now reached the point at which progress can be made with the rehabilitation of the Singapore undertaking, as the steps which have to follow the passing of the Traction Ordinance by the Straits Settlements Legislature are believed to be purely formal and not likely to occupy a long time. The negotiations leading up to the present situation have occupied nearly 3½ years, and have called for the exercise of a great deal of patience. During that period an undertaking which was almost derelict, and losing money on the power station as well as on the trams has been made to yield profits under both heads, out of which the whole expenses of the reorganisation can be paid, leaving a satisfactory sum in cash to come over to the new Company, as well as the valuable car-shed site, the buildings and plant and the existing equipment which, so far as it will not be required after reorganisation, can be realised. Not the least satisfactory feature of the Singapore enterprise is that there is no prospect of its being penalised by depreciation of subsidiary coinage.

I now beg to move that the report of the Board of Directors and the audited accounts for the year to Dec. 31st, 1924, be and the same are hereby received and adopted, and that a final dividend of 8 per cent. actual, less income-tax (making 20 per cent. for the year), be and the same is hereby declared payable on June 4th, 1925.

The motion having been seconded by Mr. R. S. Portham, M.I.E.E., was carried unanimously without discussion.

Mr. J. W. Hawkins proposed, and Mr. L. Jadot seconded the election of the retiring directors, Mr. J. S. Haskell and Mr. R. S. Portham, and the motion was duly carried.

The auditors, Messrs. Deloitte, Plender, Griffiths and Co., having been reappointed on the proposal of Mr. Carter, seconded by Mr. J. E. Touche, Mr. Carter proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman, directors, and staff, both here and in China for their assiduous care of the Company's interests. They realised that problems were present to-day requiring patience and tact, but felt that they could look to the directors and staff to deal with them successfully.

Mr. Cornish seconded, and the vote of thanks was heartily accorded.

LOCAL STRIKE NEARING ITS END?

HONGKONG HOTEL MANAGEMENT'S DECISION ON STRIKERS' WAGES.

"EXODUS" AFTER PAY DAY DOES NOT MATERIALIZE.

As was expected by the better informed section of the community very few workers came out yesterday after receiving their pay, and this is generally regarded as a very hopeful sign that the strike is nearing its end. The strong suggestion made in the Daily Press yesterday with regard to the withholding of pay from strikers has been acted upon—will be seen below—by the management of the Hongkong Hotel. It is to be hoped that other employers of Chinese labour—whether their servants are many or few—will adopt the same line of action. With regard to the strike position, there was little change yesterday, though workers continued to come back and ask for re-employment. Details gathered in various quarters are as under:

A SHUMCHUN INCIDENT.

Yesterday being Bank Holiday, when all the European Offices of the City were closed, it could not be ascertained whether the strike had extended since the staffs had a legitimate holiday. It is stated, however, that after being paid on Tuesday, several of the Chinese staffs in European offices did not return after their holiday. But, whether this is the beginning of a general exodus of office staffs was not known yesterday. On inquiry at official quarters it was stated that no other workers had absented themselves yesterday.

LOAN FOR NATIVE BANKS.

To help the native banks to get over the extraordinary state of business affairs, arrangements have been made for a loan of $4,000,000 by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation and the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, the Hongkong Government's consent having been granted.

This loan is found to be necessary as just previous to the strike there was something like a run on the Chinese banks, and the Government found it essential to intervene by restricting withdrawals and permitting the banks to close.

Now that banking business operations have been resumed the Chinese banks are finding it extremely difficult to furnish the requisite quantity of liquid money to satisfy the demands of clients.

Government aid was sought, and as a result the loan, on approved securities, has been arranged. The basis of the loan is an advance of 40 per cent. on the value of the securities deposited.

Only purely native banks are affected, as the more important institutions are not in need of such assistance.

IMPROVED TRAM SERVICE.

The General Manager of the Hongkong Tramway Co. informs us that starting from to-day there will be a ten-minute service between the General Post Office and Causeway Bay and also a ten-minute service between the General Post Office and Happy Valley—a five-minute service from the G.P.O. eastwards.

A tram is now stationed opposite the P.O. building and is used as a Tramway Volunteer Recruiting Office, on account of the "Tramway office" being a long way from the city. The need for volunteers is urgent.

STAR FERRIES.

When the crews of the Star Ferries left their jobs the boats were taken over and operated very successfully by Naval ratings. This, however, was only a temporary arrangement and from to-day the ferries will be run by volunteers from the mercantile marine. A regular service will be maintained from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Note should be taken of the earlier closing hours.

RETURNING "BOYS."

HOTEL COMPANY'S ATTITUDE.

We are given to understand by the Management of the Hongkong and Shanghai Hotels, Ltd. that the policy to be adopted by that Company regarding the members of the native staff who recently went out on strike, is that as the hotel servants had no grievance against the Company but left their employment for reasons quite unconnected with the Hotels, the Management regard all native servants who left without notice as having forfeited their positions and as having forfeited their right to reinstatement and also to wages for June. Every striker is to be regarded as no longer in the service of the Company.

As, and when the native staff return they will be treated as unemployed Chinese making application for positions on the staffs of the Hotels. They will be very fairly treated, but at the same time the Company will make it clear to them that in re-engaging such of them as the Company wish to re-employ the strikers and coolies so engaged will be making a fresh start in the service of the Company. Naturally preference must be given in quite a number of cases to those of the native staff who have remained loyal and carried on during the present crisis and there is no guarantee that the boys to be re-engaged will be given positions either the same or similar to those held by them before the strike.

The Management consider that this attitude is not unfair to the native staff in their own interests, and that the circumstances of the present situation demand such a policy in the interests of the foreign community in Hongkong and in the Far East generally. The European members of the staff of the Company in Hongkong, although their present tasks involve exceptionally long hours and work to which they are not accustomed in the course of their ordinary duties, are nevertheless determined to carry on for several months if necessary, rather than that the present situation should be settled indecisively. Quite a number of pre-strike employees of the Hongkong Hotel have now returned and have indicated their acceptance of re-employment on the Company's conditions above mentioned.

SWATOW AFFAIRS.

A GAME OF CRICKET WHILE WAITING UPON EVENTS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

SWATOW, June 29th.

ALL QUIET. The situation here is quiet. The local branch of the Seamen's Union has removed the crews from all steamers except those flying the Chinese flag. Seven British and three Norwegian vessels are held up. At the time of writing there is no definite news concerning the likelihood of a strike of servants, launch crews, storekeepers and others in the service and supply of foreigners although it is anticipated in some quarters that a general "walk-out" may take place when June wages have been safely gathered in. Should this happen there is no shadow of doubt that deliberate coercion by the Committee of Students and Labour Unions will be responsible therefor, for not one per cent of the servants wish to leave their employment. Nor is this surprising considering that most of them will have to keep themselves and families on problematical strike pay of twenty cents per day; and worst of all for the poor things will be the loss of the daily offering of foreign items of show which their small children take home regularly.

THE PROPOSED BOYCOTT.

The boycott of goods of British and Japanese origin is supposed to become operative from to-morrow and, doubtless in order to show how little they need such goods, dealers have been buying and taking into stock everything they could lay hands on, from Grey Shirtings to Soda Ash. Parties of students have been busily engaged this last week chopping all stocks and checking all contracts with British and Japanese firms. Of course there is just the chance that the Chamber of Commerce and the several Merchants' Guilds will be able to retard the movement for a few days, but it is fairly certain that sooner or later they will have to come into line with the extremists.

MILITARY SITUATION.

The local military situation is not so "spicy" as usual and the report that General Lau Zi Wook is marching on the City is unfounded. The present Government can best be described as a Chinese stew consisting of elements from the Kuomintang, representatives of Hsu Chung-Chi and also of the "Old Brigade"—the Chen Chiung-Ming-Hung Jiao Lin combination.

SENSIBLE COUNTRY FOLK.

That apocryphal districts are by no means wholeheartedly with the student agitators is shown by a private missionary report from—A score of students from one of the schools here canvassed this particular district for funds towards the prosecution of their anti-foreign campaign. To the credit of the country folk these misguided youths were turned away:—"Come to us for money to clear out the beastly soldiery who period wreck our homes and we will give it you in full measure but what harm has the foreigner ever caused us?"

MAILS.

Hongkong friends wishing to send letters to Swatow are recommended not to supersede letters for a particular steamer but to mark them "First Steamer" as it has been noticed that correspondence so treated has come to hand more promptly.

SOMETHING LIGHTER.

In spite of all the excitement occasioned by strikers, boycotts and wild rumours we have been able to put in some cricket with our Naval friends from H.M.S. Bluebell during the two week-end. Orthodoxy is not a strong feature of either team but both games have been played with amazing energy considering the sun temperature was 120°F. and shade 85°F. In the first match Swatow was, so to speak, just hardening its hands and the Bluebell won by 29 runs. Yesterday we took our revenge by a similar narrow margin—23 runs.

In this match the Bluebell were set 112 to win with 70 minutes to play and a very gallant attempt they made to pull it off. Walden, though barely knee-high to a grasshopper, is a courageous soul and I commend his lusty hitting and brisk calling for short runs to those members of the S.R.C. who move between the wickets with measured tread and elephantine grace.

Local weather conditions being favourable we hope to play the rubber next week-end.

HONGKONG, JULY 2ND, 1925.

MORE PUBLICITY REQUIRED.

The action of the Tupan, of Chihli, as reported in a cable from Tientsin yesterday, is a fine object lesson of the most effective way of dealing with the present trouble in China. The troops of LI CHANG LIN rounded up the local communists and arrested nearly a hundred of them, including a number of the servants of the Soviet Consulate. Protests were unavailing, the Chinese Authorities simply stating that they were determined to stop the dissemination of subversive Bolshevik propaganda during this time of national stress.

We commend the attitude of the Chihli Tupan to the Canton Government but this, of course, was simply a counsel of perfection. We realize that while the Bolsheviks retain their present power in the Capital of Kwangtung such simple and efficacious measures of putting an end to the present situation are impracticable. In Hongkong they are impracticable also, but for a different reason. The agitators in our midst do their work by stealth. They frighten the people but keep themselves well in the background, knowing the risks they run and the short shrift that would be accorded them if discovered.

Surely this is an argument for the enforcement of some form of registration in the future. It is late in the day to talk of registration in connection with the present disturbance but when this particular crisis is over it is to be hoped that we shall not sit down quietly and wait for the next one to arise before taking action. The difficulties of checking or supervising the constant ebb and flow of the population between this Colony and the mainland may, at the moment, appear to be well high insuperable but registration was, we believe, enforced in Colombo for a considerable number of years and some form of registration could doubtless be devised to meet the needs of this Colony. At any rate the community appear determined that something of these lines shall be attempted. They are now working loyally with the Government waiting until, in the words of H.E. the Governor, "the clouds roll by," but once the horizon is again clear we shall be greatly surprised if a very insistent demand is not made for legislation which will at any rate tend towards minimising the possibility of any recurrence of these outbreaks. It must be remembered that the whole burden of such a strike as the present one falls upon the commercial community and the business man, in a British Colony, has a right to demand that the power of the law shall be used to the full in protection of his interests.

It is easy to be wise after the event, but it is worth while placing on record the fact that there is a strong feeling in the Colony that the holders of licences would not have struck if they had been informed that by leaving their work their licences would be automatically cancelled. Perhaps, even now some good might be done by an announcement that the licences will be confiscated if the holders do not return within a stipulated time. We were promised a strong lead by the Government a fortnight ago and the European residents accepted it in good faith and offered their services in any capacity, believing that their co-operation was required. They are still carrying on and will continue to do so, but the opinion is now being expressed from many sides that matters are being allowed to drift into something approaching stale-mate. This we believe is untrue but the Government alone is at fault if the opinion gains ground. We are informed that the Hongkong Authorities are carrying on an extensive propaganda amongst the Chinese. Upon this heading alone we have received bitter complaints from several merchants. If the propaganda is being carried out, they ask, how is it that neither we nor our staffs have seen anything of it. We are concerned and we want to know what is being done. There is some justice in this plea.

The Government ought to realise that the whole success of propaganda depends upon the amount of publicity obtained, and judging from the tales which have been told to employers even during the past two days by the Chinese remaining at work there is no doubt that a good deal of the propaganda is missing those for whom it is principally intended. A paragraph in some Chinese paper is not worthy of the name of propaganda at a time like the present. There is little doubt that hundreds, even of fairly well educated Chinese, still hopelessly misjudge the situation. Are any lectures at work? Are pamphlets being distributed? If not, why not? And if they are why should not the members of the British community be immediately informed? It would help to satisfy them that everything that is humanly possible was being done to safeguard their interests and, moreover, they could very helpfully help in many ways in carrying on the good work. There is no doubt in our mind that the position has distinctly improved during the past week, but this time has not yet come for resting and waiting upon events.

Yesterday being Bank Holiday, there were no sittings at the local magistracies during the day.

H.M.S. Weymouth, known on the China Station as the relief ship, is under refit at Chatham until the end of June.

The following appointments were made by the Admiralty on May 29th:—Gnr. (T.) G. C. Starr, to Hawkins (June 15th).

H.M.A.S. Brisbane and the American Destroyer the U.S.S. Simpson are at present in port, in addition to H.M.S. Titania.

The forthcoming wedding is announced of Sergt. William Albert Dyer, of the Central Police Station, to Miss Grace Hetty Bott, of Northwood, Middlesex.

Among the latest wills is that of Mr. Stanley Arthur Lane, of Tanjong Pagar, Instow, Devon, late manager Singapore Harbour Board £9,462 (net personality £8,862).

Among the guests at Mrs. Baldwin's "at home" at 10, Downing Street, to meet overseas visitors to the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley were Sir Robert and Lady Ho Tung.

The engagement is announced of Miss Jemima Leveson, daughter of Admiral Sir Arthur Leveson, formerly Commander-in-Chief on the China Station, and Lieut. W. Derek Stephens, R.N.

A Hongkong tragedy of twenty-four years ago is recalled by an "in memoriam" for William Ankers Moore, "who gave his life for a lascar or coolie," a. s. Unhark, Hongkong, September 1st, 1901.

The following appointments on the China Station were made by the Admiralty on May 28th:—T. E. Podger, D. B. Shaw, E. R. Main, W. O. Bradbury, J. R. Bryans, and R. H. Stephenson, to Hawkins.

A Peking message of June 21st states that Mr. Eugene Chen, former Editor of the defunct Peking Gazette and English Secretary to the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen, has returned to the metropolis from Shanghai and Canton and he is going to assume the editorship of the Mingao or The People's Tribune, to-morrow.

Admiral Frochet, Commander-in-Chief of the French Naval Forces in the Far Eastern waters, who left for Canton on Sunday in the sloop Albat, returned to Hongkong yesterday on board the despatch vessel Marne. An Admiral's salute was fired as the ship entered the Harbour. Another French war vessel at present in port is the Albat.

CORRESPONDENCE.
CANTON CHRISTIAN COLLEGE
"PROTEST."

[TO THE EDITOR OF "THE HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR,—Mr. H. B. Graybill—a member of the Canton Christian College Staff—in his letter to Mr. Baxter which is published in the South China Morning Post of this morning states that the Resolutions, passed by the Americans at the Canton Christian College, and published in the paper as such, were those of the American Staff, drawn up and passed, just after Mr. Baxter had left the grounds, i.e., on the morning of Wednesday, the 24th June, 1925.

In his repudiation Mr. Baxter made a point of the fact that on the night of the 23rd-24th June those members of the Council who were at the College were unable to get into touch with the Shamoon, and thus to get any statement of the facts either from the British, or the American, Consul-General. But Mr. Graybill writes from Hongkong, and his letter is dated the 27th June. Is Mr. Graybill still ignorant of the facts, or does he still hold that the "nationals" among whom he has now learnt that the American "forces" were not represented fired on an unarmed procession of harmless schoolboys? If Mr. Graybill accepts the statement of the British Consul-General, surely some expression of explanation, not to say apology, is called for. If he still thinks that the statement on which the Resolutions of the American Staff were based is the correct one, surely the least that he and his co-signatories who have come to Hongkong can do is to remove themselves immediately from the Colony of one of the Powers whose action they still persist in describing as one of "wanton brutality."

Some of the signatories of the Resolutions are at this moment enjoying not only the safety of Hongkong but the hospitality of Hongkong institutions and individuals. What is the attitude of the Canton Christian College Staff towards their British hosts? If they are friends, let them explain their position; if they are enemies, their refuge should be elsewhere.—Yours faithfully, P. H. HOLYOAK.

Hongkong, July 1st, 1925.

CANTON STILL QUIET.
YESTERDAY'S PROCESSION.

Reports from Canton simply state that there has been no change in the position. A procession was due to take place yesterday but it was not anticipated that this would pass Shamoon or give rise to any untoward incident.

MINERS' WAGES.

NATIONAL AGREEMENT TO BE TERMINATED ON JULY 31ST.

London, July 1st.

The coal-owners have formally notified the Miners' Federation of the termination of the national wages agreement on July 31st. The owners have not yet made definite proposals for a revision of conditions, but a letter, accompanying the notification, indicates that the owners intend to submit terms governed by the ability of each district to pay its way.

The Miners' National Delegates Conference will consider the position on Friday.

Meanwhile, Mr. A. J. Cook, Secretary of the Miners' Federation, asserts that the publication of the owners' letter is tantamount to a declaration of war against the miners.

GENERAL STRIKE POSSIBLE.

LONDON, July 1st.

The Congress of the French Miners' Federation have been approached by Mr. Cook and have unanimously declared in favour of a limited general strike of the whole coal-mining industry, unless the proposals for the reduction of wages are withdrawn in all coal-fields by July 25th.

CHINESE IN FRANCE.

FRENCH AUTHORITIES FACED WITH DIFFICULTIES.

PARIS, July 1st.

The French authorities are experiencing difficulty in disposing of unwanted Chinese, against whom writs have been issued in connection with the incident at the Chinese Legation. French police escorted ten Chinese to a point on the Belgian frontier whence they expelled them.

Immediately the police had turned their backs, the French authorities were advised that the Chinese had entered at another point on the frontier but again they were frustrated, owing to the Belgian Government ordering a close watch on the whole line.

Finally the unwanted Chinese were taken to Strasbourg, where they successfully entered Germany.

EARLIER CABLES.

BRITAIN AND INDIA.

LORD BIRKENHEAD'S VIEWS ON THE FUTURE.

LONDON, June 30th.

Speaking at the dinner of the Central Asian Society, Lord Birkenhead made a brief reference to India and declared emphatically that Britain must continue to sustain exclusive responsibility for the protection of India. "We must never close our eyes to the realities of a situation which might easily be rendered dangerous. The fundamental fact of the Indian situation is that we went to India centuries ago, composing with the sharp edge of the sword differences which would have submerged and destroyed Indian civilization. We went there on that basis and we hold it by that charter, and it is true to say today that if we left India tomorrow it would be submerged by the same unrelenting and murderous disturbances as in the days of Clive. No man was entitled to speak as a representative of Britain and a momentary trustee of India, whether Labour, Liberal or Conservative, who would find himself in a position in which it was possible for him to liquidate the obligations of history with honour." (Cheers.)

COTTON INDUSTRY.

EFFECT OF UNREST IN CHINA FELT.

LONDON, June 30th.

In the House of Commons, replying to Mr. P. J. Hannon, who drew attention to the serious effect of the disturbances in China upon the Lancashire cotton industry, Mr. A. M. Samuel said the Government would of course take any steps in their power to safeguard these and other British interests.

SHORTER HOURS IN FUTURE.

Over 84 per cent. of the spinners of American cotton have given the undertaking asked for by the Federation of Cotton Spinners' Associations, to reduce their hours by 6 1/2 weekly. It is stated that the owners of two million spindles outside the Federation have also signified their willingness to carry out the undertaking.

The new hours will operate from July 1st.

LATEST CABLES.

FRENCH CURRENCY.

THE GOLD LOAN PROJECT BEGETS CONFIDENCE.

PARIS, July 1st.

M. Caillaux, interviewed by Le Matin, stated that the project of a Gold Loan had begun confidence, for already yesterday the Ministry of Finance had issued considerably more national defence bonds than it has redeemed.

Subscribers to the Loan will be protected not only against the fall but also against the rise of the franc, as the interest on coupons will be an irreducible minimum. The loan will be the centre of crystallisation which M. Caillaux expects will lead to the stabilization of French currency. (Cheers.)

EARLIER CABLES.

CAMPAIGN IN MOROCCO.

SITUATION REPORTED SERIOUS BY MISSION.

PARIS, June 30th.

The Fax correspondent of Le Temps estimates that Abd el Krim lost a thousand killed and three thousand wounded in the recent offensive, in which he evidently sought to strike a decisive blow regardless of the cost.

A Marseilles message states that the Parliamentary mission of investigation has returned from Morocco. The mission interviewed, said the situation had been critical and remained serious. An immediate bold offensive was necessary in order to save French prestige with the tribesmen. The movement of troops would be impossible after the advent of the rains in October.

LATEST CABLES.

FRENCH AIR ACTIVITIES.

Fez, July 1st.

A communication states that the Riffs are developing an offensive on a large scale against the French sectors on the Centre and East fronts. They are invading the French lines at several points. French aeroplanes are active and have bombed the post at Bouadene, commanded by the brother of Abd el Krim.

P. AND O. BANK.

DIVIDEND OF FIVE PER CENT. DECLARED.

LONDON, June 30th.

The net profit of the P. and O. Banking Corporation for the year ended March 31st, 1925, is £138,215. It is proposed to pay a dividend of five per cent. and to carry forward £17,843. In connection with placing £250,000 to reserve and writing off £50,000 from the premises, it is noted that these increases have doubtless been made as a matter of prudence, in view of the unsettled conditions in the Far East.

CRICKET AT HOME.

WARWICK WIN SENSATIONAL GAME AGAINST SUSSEX.

LONDON, June 30th.

Playing on the Garrison Ground at Colchester, Northamptonshire defeated Essex by 188 runs. Northants batted first and scored 141. Jupp making 56, and Hipkin taking six wickets for 28 runs. Essex replied with 112. Clark taking four wickets for 34 runs. Northants compiled 330 in their second venture, Jupp scoring 70 and Bellamy 33. Essex could only respond with 181, of which Perrin made 87. Jupp took seven wickets for 71 runs.

Playing at Birmingham, Warwick defeated Sussex by nine wickets. Sussex batted first and made 243. Cox scoring 65. Warwick went in to make 222. Wyatt scoring 55. In their second innings Sussex made 370 for eight wickets with declared. Holmes being top scorer with 100, not out. The batsmen were Parsons 124, Smith 139, not out, and Calthorpe 109, not out.

Playing at Nottingham, Lancashire gained a first innings win over Nottingham. Lancashire batted first and made 339. Makepeace scoring 78, Hallows 98 and Ernest Tidydesley 114. Nottingham replied with 245. Walker making 52 and George Gunn 83. In their second innings Lancashire made 251. Watson scoring 62 and Barnes 50. Nottingham failed to make the required number of runs and when time was called their score stood at 178 for three wickets, Carr being top scorer with 102, not out.

Playing at Derby, Kent defeated Derby by five wickets. Derby batted first and scored 134. B. Hillwood scoring 61, and Cornwallis taking five wickets for 56 runs. Kent could only reply with 120. Horley taking five wickets for 28 runs. In their second innings Derby made 314. Jackson contributing 65. Freeman took four wickets for 85 runs. Kent did extremely well in their second innings, scoring 349 for five wickets. Harding made 144 and Seymour 118.

TENNIS AT WIMBLEDON.

AMERICA'S LAST HOPE GOES DOWN IN SINGLES.

LONDON, June 30th.

Though on the warm side, the weather at Wimbledon to-day was perfect, and this was reflected in the pageant of colour on the ground. All the most fashionable dress styles of the season were to be seen.

Jean Borotra, the holder of the Open Singles Championship, entered the semi-final stage by defeating the young Oxonian, Barclay, by three sets to one. Borotra began very shakily, and netting frequently allowed Barclay to gain a 3-0 lead. The champion improved considerably, however, and carried off the next six games for set. Barclay, by wonderful playing, won the second at 7-3, and lost the next set after many hard-fought rallies. Borotra won the third 6-3 and had gained the advantage in the final set when Barclay decided to come up to the net and with excellent smashing he drew level at three all. Thereafter the Frenchman was irresistible and he took the next three games for set and match.

J. O. Anderson, the Australian, beat H. Fisher easily in three straight sets. He allowed the Englishman to make mistakes with his approach and he displayed a rapid-like forward drive which often had Fisher in difficulties. In the final stages his ball control was of outstanding merit and his cross court driving was brilliant. He won 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

Lacoste beat Jacob, the Indian Davis Cup player, at his own game, a long baseline duel materialising. The Indian was a master of style and he stroked with beautiful rhythm, while his forehead driving to the corners was most accurate. The Frenchman mastered him in the long rallies, his hitting being more powerful, and he passed him at the net whenever he came up. Lacoste, whose playing throughout was magnificent, won 6-3, 6-8, 6-4.

America's last hope went down before the imperturbable Cochet, though Hennessey took the first two sets. Cochet led 6-2 in the first, but Hennessey redeemed a poor start and with accurate and hard driving squared at 7-7. Deuce was thrice called before the American secured the decisive point.

Twice in the second, Hennessey was within a point of winning at 6-3, but Cochet pulled off the next game for set. In the third, Hennessey lost his service game on two successive occasions, the Frenchman outdriving him and finding the side-lines consistently. Cochet played a careful baseline game and won at 6-1. In the fourth, Cochet carried the attack to the net, and in the final set Hennessey beat him by overdriving. Frenchman won 7-6, 4-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-0.

In the semi-finals, Borotra meets Cochet, and Anderson meets Lacoste.

The Frenchmen continued their march of conquest in the Doubles. Borotra and Lacoste, defeating L. A. Godfree and J. H. P. Wheatley after a thrilling game. The score was 6-2, 9-7, 10-8. Also in the third round, the Italo-Hungarian pair, De Morpurgo and De Kehring, eliminated the Americans, Rice and Garland, after losing the first set by 6-8, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

In the fourth round of the Women's Doubles, Mille, Suzanne, Langlen and Miss Ryan entered the semi-final by defeating the Australian pair, Miss Boyd and Mrs. Uzz, 6-0, 6-2.

VICTORY FOR MISS FRY.

LONDON, July 1st.

The weather at Wimbledon to-day was gloriously hot. With two British and French ladies in the semi-finals, it was decidedly Ladies Day on the centre court, which was packed like sardines in a tin by 1.45, the queue having waited since 7 a.m. for admission.

The multi-coloured parasols and gay sunnery toilettes made the scene a brilliant one.

Five shilling tickets, were selling outside for thirty shillings.

In the semi-final Miss Joan Fry beat Madame Billout by 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

SITUATION IN NORTH.

KUOMINTANG MASS MEETING IS POORLY ATTENDED.

PEKING, July 1st.

To-day's mass meeting in connection with the Shansen affair was poorly attended, some schools and colleges holding aloof.

The National Flag was not displayed, but the Kuomintang and Red Flags were much in evidence.

Prominent members of the Kuomintang made speeches.

POSITION IN SHANGHAI.

SHANGHAI, July 1st.

The memorial service for the students yesterday, was unaccompanied by violence anywhere.

The strikers are now looking to Peking for a settlement, which business men as well as the extremists confidently expect to include the concession of a number of the Chinese demands unconnected with recent events.

The morning papers, consider the situation settling down; but while the frenzied excitement is lulled there is no weakening of the shipping strike or boycott movement.

Yesterday's demonstration consisted of a procession paying homage to the dead and speeches demanding "national rights."

FORTHCOMING NEGOTIATIONS.

PEKING, July 1st.

Signor Cerruti (the Italian Minister) in an interview with Reuters this afternoon, confirmed that he, the French Minister and the American Charge d'Affaires will represent the interested Powers at the forthcoming negotiations in Peking.

Signor Cerruti stated that discussions with the Chinese delegates, which were expected to begin on July 6th, would be strictly limited to arriving at a settlement of the Shanghai affair. Other questions as to the Mixed Court and the organisation of the International Settlement, which the Chinese Government had evinced a desire to take up, will require to be the subject of a further conference, at which the Powers concerned must individually be represented.

BIRKENHEAD ON CHINA.

STUDENTS SADLY NEGLECTING TEACHING OF CONFUCIUS.

LONDON, June 30th.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Central Asian Society, Lord Birkenhead referred to the position in China, where it was found that students were unaccountably neglecting the immortal learning of Confucius and reading the columns of English newspapers. The principal enemies of the Empire, whether in China, Egypt and India were the students, who were most certain that the Empire was doomed and damned and that they were the proper instruments of its immediate dissolution.

China was the happy hunting ground of Bolshevists. China's development and the part to be played in the extrication of China from her present dilemmas by Britain, the United States, Japan and the European nations required the most careful attention of everyone who was familiar with China's problems.

INDIAN TEAM BEATEN.

For the first time since their arrival in England the famous Jodhpur team were put to a really severe test at Beaumont on May 23rd. This was in the Whitby Cup, a tournament played on the handicap. The Indians were set the task of winning a start of 2 goals to Templeton, a team comprising Capt. M. King, Major G. Phipps, Major H. P. E. Guest.

Midway through the match Jodhpur looked like accomplishing their task easily enough. In spite of the fact that the ground was all against them, they had established a lead of 7 goals to 41 by the end of the fourth chukker. It seemed long odds that they would pass comfortably into the next round. Even when they failed to add to their advantage in the fifth period, no one had any doubt as to the result of the match.

An amazing change came over the struggle in the last chukker. Templeton attacked persistently. King, Kingcote scored twice. Scoring the half from the throw-in, that player made a delightful approach shot, and with another fine drive placed his side ahead. A little later Major Barrett scored after a good run by Capt. Kingcote, and Templeton were left winners of a remarkable game by 5 goals to 7. The sudden collapse of the Indian team was probably due to lack of coordination of their points.

CHANG TSO LIN'S PLANS.

HIS AIMS AS UNDERSTOOD IN MUKDEN.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

MUKDEN, June 31st.

At any other time the movements of Chang Tso Lin would be chronicled widely in the foreign and vernacular press, and all kinds of deductions, wise and unwise, would be drawn from these, but had he wished for it the Marshal could not have secured a more effective smoke screen for his present movements than has been provided by the agitation originating from Shanghai and spreading throughout the country. During the past week it was reported every day that he was expected in Peking that particular day, but the Press in the capital and elsewhere took no notice of the rumour, which at other times would have been featured in practically every newspaper. Thus it is that he has made important troop dispositions without attracting much attention and has made considerable progress in the development of plans designed to strengthen and consolidate his position.

As understood in Mukden the Marshal's visit to Tientsin is for a three-fold purpose:—

First of all, he desires to eliminate the present dual control of Peking. That means that the voice of the Christian General is no longer to be heard in the councils of the Government, and it is believed here that Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang will withdraw without resistance, and without protest. By forcing Feng's troops entirely out of Peking, Marshal Chang will remove the source of the occasional irritation which marred the relations between the Provisional Chief Executive and himself. In other words, no leader but Chang himself will have the ear of Marshal Tuan—a very satisfactory arrangement indeed—for Chang.

His second object, having accomplished the first, is to make arrangements for the maintenance of the large force of troops mustered under his banner. The Three Eastern Provinces. It is admitted, can support the Manchurian armies, but Shantung cannot provide for the Fengtien troops quartered within its borders, and financial assistance must be obtained. The new "united" administration to be provided for Marshal Tuan will be asked to earmark certain funds of the Taiping and Peking-Mukden Railways for this purpose as well as to repay Chang a proportion of the 50 million dollars which he expended in the recent war.

Chang Tso Lin's third aim is to cure the awkward situation created by the failure of Cheng Shi Chi, the former Tsuchin of Shantung, to assume the tutelage of Anhui to which he had been appointed. Of course Chang has a good reason for his failure: he has no troops and without these he could not hope to establish himself in the new post. It is believed that Chang will resign and that Marshal Chang will then be in a position to secure the post for a man of his own choice.

Having accomplished the foregoing, Chang Tso Lin may be said to have consolidated his position. But after that what? Will Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang remain for ever quiescent? Certainly not. Karakhan will doubtless see to that.

SCOTTISH SPORT.

FAILURE OF SCOTTISH GOLFERS.

LADY GOLFERS AT TROON.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

Edinburgh, May 27th.

The Scottish golf team at Westward Ho! did not embark upon their contest against England with any extravagant hopes of success, and their defeat by eight matches to five is no worse than was expected in view of the difficulties that confronted the selectors. The famous Devonshire links has been the venue of the international match and of the Amateur Championship on only one former occasion (1912), and then as now Scottish golfers were present in proportions much smaller than in their representation on any other English green, and not by any means comparable with the numbers who are available for selection when the international contest is decided in Scotland. It is not open to question that the best men who could be chosen were entrusted with the duty of upholding their country's flag, but the English side, drawn from a wider range of available talent, clearly proved the stronger, winning by the odd match in the five four-somes and then gaining also the singles by five matches to three. A minor consolation for the losers was the victory of their captain, Mr. Robert Harris, over Sir Ernest Holderness, who led the English side with all the prestige that belongs to the holder of the Amateur Championship. England's success is their second in consecutive years, and while this fact may point to the turning of the tide, Scottish golfers hardly need to be reminded that their English rivals have a long way to travel before they gain the ascendancy in the record of matches played. Excluding the semi-official game of 1902 at Hoylake, Scotland has won on ten occasions, and last week's result brings England's successes up to four.

LADIES' GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

Miss Wethered is again the winner of the Ladies' Open Golf Championship, and no one can dispute her supreme right to the title. But she had to fight hard for victory in the final day's play at Troon, the famous course on the Ayrshire coast, and it was only at the 17th hole that she was able to shake off the plucky challenge of Miss Leitch. Great as the play of the victor was, it is open to argument if the performance of the loser was not greater still. Miss Leitch's attempt to wrest the laurels from her younger rival was a high-hearted effort. If it had succeeded, it would have been regarded as a sensational achievement, and even with the match ending as it did, no praise is too high for the remarkable courage with which Miss Leitch fought every inch of the way. Whether Miss Wethered is a greater golfer than Miss Leitch was at her best may be open to challenge—certainly with all her wonderful skill Miss Wethered is not any more dominant to-day than Miss Leitch was a dozen years ago—but it will hardly be disputed that Miss Wethered is supreme among women golfers at the present time. She has been at the top of her form in this year's Championship. In none of the earlier rounds was she seriously stretched. Before Miss Wethered's devastating and sustained brilliance Champions and ex-Champions and quite ordinary players fell with equal inevitability. Miss Leitch's progress to the final, on the other hand, was strewn with many misadventures, from which she was lucky to escape without disaster. In each of her matches on the second last day she was so hard pressed that she might easily have been beaten, and would have been beaten if her opponents had not been as variable as herself. But she struggled through; and in a final which will last long in the records of the game, she proved to those who did not know, or have forgotten, what a great and lion-hearted player she still is. There was something epic in this meeting of the once unbeatable Champion and the young rival who has vaulted so confidently into her place; and the thrill of the finish when Miss Wethered was downy two, and then downy one, and when Miss Leitch levelled at the 36th, was Homeric in its intensity.

At an earlier stage in the competition there was a thrilling game between Miss Wethered and Miss Glenna Collett, a young lady from the U.S.A. who was heralded as the most accomplished foreign challenger who had ever sought to win the British ladies' title. She was put to what was probably the stiffest test of her golfing career, and, although she started off quite promisingly, she failed to stay the heart-breaking pace set by Miss Wethered. From the ninth hole onwards Miss Collett kept losing her grip, and the fighting finish which most folks had hoped for failed to materialise. CRICKET IN THE RAIN.

For the third week in succession, rain spoiled cricket in Scotland. Scotland's inglorious display against Lancashire on the cricket field recently is explained to a considerable degree by the weather with which we are favoured on this side of the Border. The cricket season opened in Scotland on April 27th, yet to-day, after a month, the majority of the teams in the Western Union have been able to play only one match. A cricketer's thoughts on this point would make interesting comparison with a golfer's on garrulity. The Scottish Counties Championship fixtures had all to be cancelled. The principal results for the week were: Carlton, 153; Edin. Univ., 64. Edin. Acad., 139; Grange, 33. Polce, 139; Kelburne, 70. St. Andrews Univ., 163; Glas. Univ., 69. Kilmarnock, 139; Cartha, 62.

In recommending normal persons to restrict themselves to one meal a day, Dr. Cecil Webb-Johnson can point to the example set during the Zenith of Greek and Roman civilization, when it was an established rule that no man should eat until he had leisure to digest—that is, at the end of the day's work. Even four meals a day would, however, have been regarded as scant allowance by an old nurse who figures in Mrs. Andrew Cross's Reminiscences. She lived to be nearly a hundred, and was fond of saying that "folks should take their meals regular." From the time her working life began she had eaten "a dowbit and breakfast, a staybit and dinner, a moomet and crummet, and a bit after supper"—eight meals in all.

In the quarter he established a new record for the University for the distance, taking a fifth of a second off his own previous best of last year—53.35 sec. He ran in fine style in all his races, and his times were all more than good, especially considering the heavy going on the grass and the fact that he is not in steady training. An Indian from the Punjab, J. Singh, won the putting the weight event, and, judging by the cheer he got, his success was a very popular one. Singh putted a year ago, when he was runner-up, with his feet bare, but yesterday he wore spiked shoes with better results. He is studying engineering at the University, and it is interesting to note that before leaving the Punjab some two years ago he won the putting event with a putt of 25 feet.

PARIS FASHION NOTES.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT,
ISABEL RAMSAY.]

PARIS, May 25th.

MID-SEASON FASHION.

Just when we were recovering from the round of visits to the Spring collections of the big couturiers and settling down to the idea of seeing women getting about in knee-length skirts for the remainder of the season, these indefatigable Rag Kings return to the onslaught by announcing a showing of mid-season fashions, and over a hundred buyers are kept busy in consequence passing in review six or seven hundred models a day in their round of visits to the different big show rooms.

SIMPLE SILHOUETTE.

Although all of the models shown off by the bored-looking mannequins are quite new, they differ very little from those with which the season opened. All the designers seemed to have agreed on the essentials of fashion these days, that is the extreme shortness of skirts, falling that is introduced into the front of skirts rather than the back, a bare movement from the hips, pleats, and a general silhouette that retains simple straight lines. Each deals with these details in his or her own particular way.

LIGHT FLUFFINESS.

In Louise Boulanger's collection, I noticed a predominance of stiff-back and fancy crepes in warm shades of rust, brick, tomato, madonna and royal blue. The popular printed chiffons were also to be seen in any profusion. Most of these were made up into afternoon frocks that showed bouffant types of skirts in which flounces, pleats, frills, circular effects and a general light fluffiness were the chief characteristics rather than straight, clinging lines. Points in over-skirts and box pleats were other frequent features of this collection. Many of the afternoon models were completed by a kind of short tunic that bound the hips at the back but gathered falling in the front where it fell in an apron effect. Other suits made of raven blue satin were completed with quaint jackets that were longer in front than at the back. Many of the straight redingote type of coats were made of a striped satin material that is one of the most popular novelties in the way of material of the season. It has made its appearance no doubt as a successor to the vogue for stripes and patterns made by inverting the material. This looks as though strips of satin and corded silk had been alternated, and the most effective coats are being made of it, and (a fact those of a stoutish inclination will be delighted with) slit up the sides. The idea of lining a coat with the same material as that of which the dress to be worn with it is made, also continues to be one of the most popular features for ensembles. I saw the most charming examples of this last week at Patou's. The dresses were made of figured crepe de Chine in shades of blue in Dresden and darker natter tints, and the coats, or jackets (as there is at present a very great vogue for hip length jackets with ensembles), were of navy blue, reps or alpaca and were lined with the same figured material as that of the dress. Patou is also showing a number of afternoon frocks made of materials printed in diagonal checks in varying shades, with short jackets of a darker harmonising shade lined with the same material, that are most attractive, and, also most practical at this changeable time of the year when one never knows just how a warm Spring day is likely to finish up.

SPORTS COUTURE.

Lucien Lelong, as usual, is making a feature of sports clothes and of street clothes that have the double advantage of being as comfortable to wear as they are attractive to look at. This designer is using kasha in the dozen and one varieties in which Rodier has presented it to womankind this season. These materials are so attractive in themselves, that they need little or no trimming, and Lucien Lelong has wisely refrained from painting the lily in this way and contented himself with merely adding a line of colourful embroidery here and there, a row of fancy buttons or bands of kasha in a contrasting shade. An original detail of his collection is the bolero he has introduced onto a number of serge and kasha frocks. Another is a jacket so short that it barely reaches the waist line and resembles more than anything the short jacket inflicted on hotel page boys by their employers. Lace is used a great deal by Lelong in his evening models. I noticed a number of the most charming dinner gowns made of black lace relieved by a touch here and there of silver or gold lamé ribbon, of metallic embroidery or of a knot of flowers. Coloured laces, too, figure a great deal, and sometimes they are mixed with a metallic lace, either gold, silver or copper, and the most lovely effects obtained.

Dorati is specialising in sports clothes which are a little more elegant than the ordinary skirt and jumper uniform, and yet allow every freedom of movement. These are made of a silk knitted material known as Doraja. It is to be had in dark as well as pastel shades, the novelty about it being that various designs and original motifs like those to be found in the printed chiffons and foulards of the moment, are woven into it. Tricolet is another material Doraja is employing in her sports models. Sometimes she uses two kinds in the one suit, taking a plain one for the upper front and a figured one for the rest of the ensemble. She also combines crepe de Chine and kasha with knitted silk with the most effective results. For her Summer day models, Dorati is making use of flowers, applied on in various ways, and very charming are some of the effects she obtains. She places them just at the waist line and then outlines them in metal thread, or else just at the hem of the apron tunic if there is one. Last week I had tea one afternoon in one of the most delectable spots in all

Paris these days when the city is beginning to roast under a regular summer sun. This is Armentouville, the famous restaurant in the Bois de Boulogne. Hundreds of people were drinking tea or iced drinks under the leafy chestnut trees, whilst as many as could crowd on to the dancing floor laid down in the open were dancing to the sounds of the inevitable jazz band. The two features I noticed about the dressing in this smartest of rendezvous was the amount of imitation jewellery worn and the simplicity of the hats. There was probably enough wealth congregated to buy up the whole of the Bois de Boulogne, and yet nearly every woman present had her arms, her hands and her neck loaded with jewels that she probably bought for a few hundred francs in some boulevard imitation jewellery shop. Some had bangles of diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires that reached from their wrists half way to their elbow; others had ropes of pearls which, if real, would have been sufficient to ransom a king; others showed off rose pearls and diamonds on their fingers as large as marbles, whilst all and sundry had jewelled pins and brooches stuck with an affected carelessness through their hat, jewelled buckles on their shoes and amazing jewelled clasps on their bags. Chanel brought in the craze for imitation pearls of an exaggerated size and colour, to please her American clients, a year or so ago, since when this counter craze for sparkling jewels that are no more than cleverly cut bits of paste has sprung up with equal fury.

PARADOXICAL HATS.

The other feature, the hats, was equally interesting and rather in the nature of a paradox, for almost without exception, they were made of felt and so simple in line and trimming that I wondered, as I looked at them, how it is that milliners haven't gone mad and gone out of business in despair. The most popular hat with the modern woman of fashion, as exemplified at Armentouville, seems to be a close-fitting felt one, the only trimming of which is a brim that is cut and twisted and curled into some sort of shape that will make it look different from the thousand and one other felt hats that are all about. And, impossible as it may appear, this miracle is actually accomplished, so that every woman, despite the fact that she is wearing a felt hat with apparently no more trimming about it than the jewelled pin stuck through the brim in front, is totally different to every other felt hat and in one of the most delectable spots in all expressed completely the personality of its wearer. Most show a brim turned up in front, some are finished with a plait or fold encircling the head at the nape of the neck, others show the felt cut into strips and arranged so as to curl and jut out at the most unexpected of angles, whilst others turn down in front and sharply up at the back like the characteristic hat Louis XI used to wear so many centuries ago, the only difference being that, whereas the superstitious monarch of France used to sew models of the Holy Virgin all over the front of his hat, modern women, more sophisticated and less superstitious content themselves by decorating theirs with a jewelled dagger.

ROSEWOOD TONES.
Of the colours worn, the most popular and certainly the most effective were the rosewood tones. Among the girls dancing there were two in simple crepe de Chine frocks in a pale shade of rosewood, just described in a rosewood shade to match, and when they went off to their cars, coats a deeper shade of rosewood to cover them up. And these were the most admired of the many in that fashionable throng.

The Right Treatment For Indigestion

consists in overcoming the cause of the trouble—the presence of excess acid in the stomach, which attacks its delicate lining and renders smooth, painless digestion impossible. For this purpose Bismarck Magnesia is unequalled for it drives away all pain sickness and flatulence the moment it enters the stomach. . . . it does this by neutralising the acid, stopping fermentation, and soothing the inflamed tissues. Try Bismarck for yourself! See how quickly the pain goes. . . . see how much better you feel. Get some from your chemist TO-DAY. . . . but be sure it is Bismarck Magnesia, every genuine package of which bears the oval "BISMARCK" trade-mark, a little thing to look for but it's worth it, as it ensures your getting the one thing that dispels harassing stomach and bodily weakness.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN SUDAN.

IMMENSE DEVELOPMENT SCHEME.

This year marks the beginning of a new period in the economic history of the Sudan, says the Times. In July next the great Senaar Dam on the Blue Nile will be completed, and the stored waters will be spread by a vast irrigation scheme over the fertile plain between the two Niles. The assured success of this great cotton-growing enterprise is due to the patient administration and sound development in the past quarter of a century. In 1899 the country, ravaged by years of famine and the tyranny of despotic Mahdism, might well have justified General Gordon's description as a worthless possession. How well the task of building upon this desolation has been accomplished is best illustrated by the trade figures. In 1912 the value of external trade had risen from practically nothing to £3,600,000, and at the end of 1924 it was valued at £8,500,000. Of the many exports of the Sudan, cotton has, of recent years, become the most valuable. Grown by pump irrigation on the Nile, in the deltas of Kassala and Tokar, and as a rain crop, the returns have fully justified the immense development schemes now in process of completion. The total cost of the Dam, the main canal, and the whole Gezira canalization scheme for the production of cotton is estimated at £13,000,000, these funds being raised under guarantee by the Imperial Government. Up to the end of 1923, the total export of cotton from the Sudan averaged about 20,000 bales of 400lb. weight per annum. In 1924, 46,000 bales were exported. It is anticipated that after this year the Gezira scheme should add a further 60,000 bales, and other development schemes give a further 70,000 bales. In course of time, the country can look forward to an annual production of 1,000,000 bales of lint cotton.

The Sudan supplies two-thirds of the world's requirements of gum arabic. Twenty-one thousand tons were exported in 1924, and it is anticipated that this export will increase to 30,000 tons annually. Other valuable exports are millet, ground nuts, sesame, cattle, sheep, and ivory. The southern provinces abound in natural products waiting only the progress of modern transport to bring them to the world's markets. Port Sudan, some 700 miles south of Suva, is well served by numerous steamship companies and is visited annually by some 2,000,000 tons of shipping. An extension of the harbour to accommodate the increasing tonnage is in course of construction. One thousand seven hundred and ten miles of railway serve the northern and central provinces, while the southern provinces are connected with the railway by several thousand miles of inland waterways.

THE STRENUOUS AGE.

[BY SIR SIDNEY LOW.]

Curzon has gone and now Milner, and England has lost two of the three most typical and distinctive heads of the great Balliol period of the 'seventies and 'eighties of the last century. The third member of the triumvirate, Lord Oxford, is still among us, and still full of energy and vigour, though he was born two years before Lord Milner and seven years before Lord Curzon.

In those years of Jowett's mastership Balliol had a position unique among the colleges of either university. It was training the youths who a little later were to be the country's rulers and administrators. Among these young gentlemen—there were only about 300 in residence—was one destined to become Prime Minister of England; two others, George Nathaniel Curzon and, a little later, Edward Grey, who were to be Foreign Secretaries, and various others, who in due course held other Cabinet and Ministerial offices; coming diplomatists and Ambassadors like Rennell Rodd and Arthur Hardinge; C. P. Lucas, who was to guide the British Empire from Downing Street as Permanent Secretary to the Colonial Office, and Sir Courtenay Ilbert, Indian legislator and parliamentary draftsman; eminent lawyers and judges like J. A. Hamilton, now Lord Sumner; and a whole contingent of writers and scholars. There were famous athletes, too, for Balliol in those days was noted for its rowing and running as well as its reading.

Why, it may be asked, should this comparatively small academic community have fostered such an exceptional amount of versatile talent?

The credit is largely due to Jowett, the most famous of Oxford heads of colleges. He believed in Balliol and caused Balliol men to believe in themselves. "I'm the master, mine's the college." But it was a belief founded on hard work and strenuous effort. Balliol, under Jowett, had no room for shirkers. It would not admit the "passmen," the students who just managed to scramble through their examinations. Every Balliol undergraduate was expected to read for honours. The Balliol open scholarships were regarded as a kind of academic blue ribbon, and the pick of the public schools entered for university prizes. He looked out for the men of character as well as brains, the future leaders in public and professional life, and had a distinct flair for promising members of the governing classes, the Curzons, Greys, Brodricks, and others, who found in Balliol a certain purposeful seriousness not perhaps so noticeable at Christ Church, the older academic nursery of the British aristocracy.

Balliol, as developed by Jowett, is doubtless serious. Its hostile critics for it was "not universally loved"—called it "priggish" and the "Balliol manner" and the Balliol mind have been the subjects of many gibes. Nevertheless, the college of Asquith, Milner, and Curzon was a fine school for capable men, and the intellectual and social life of our time, the administrative and political services of Britain and the British Empire have owed much to it.
